Yow! Here it is the third issue of our four issue mini-series! Time is flying!

This issue features a special surprised guest star (based, perhaps, on somebody famous?) who causes more trouble than he's worth. It also introduces Astra, one of the second best-looking androids in the galaxy (well, Galaxina has to be first, doesn't she?).

This is also Leonard and Terry's best work on the series yet. And while Mike is telling self-contained stories in each issue, he's also weaving a complex background world for Galaxina and Roger to inhabit.

Next month, we'll be debuting another new series based around new adventures of a popular movie star. Flesh Gordon, the comic book, debuts in March to coincide with the release of the new movie, Flesh Gordon And The Cosmic Cheerleaders. Written by Daniel Wilson, the four-issue series is illustrated by Marvin Mann and Galaxina's own Terry Pallot. Check it out, you mature reader, you.

By the way, that address is Galaxina Letters, Malibu Graphics Publishing Group, 5321 Sterling Center Drive, Westlake Village, CA 91361.

—Tom Mason

Next issue: There's a special section of the origin of Galaxina! If you've ever wondered about how this beautiful creature came into being, you won't want to miss this.

MATTER OF SECONDS. IT EVEN WORKS FOR ANDROIDS.

I FOUND IT ON QUAID'S
BODY. HE'D USED IT BEFORE
HE DIED.

IF QUAID WAS HELPING ALPHA
AND ASTRA, THEN ONE OF THEM
MAY HAVE A MEANS OF SHOWING
US WHAT'S ON THIS. AND IF THEY CAN...

I'VE NEVER EVEN HEARD OF THESE

WE MIGHT GET A BETTER
IDEA OF WHAT'S REALLY
GOING ON HERE

C'MON THE SHIP'S ALMOST DOCKED.
LET'S MOVE OUT

THEY'RE CUTTING
EDGE, VERY EXPENSIVE, AND NEED A SPECIAL
PROJECTOR TO MAKE

THERE'S ONLY SOME RESIDUAL RADIATION

OKAY, WE KNOW
WHERE THE BASTARD IS!
SPLIT UP, AND KEEP IN TOUCH WITH YOUR
